How to Switch Your Account in 5 Steps

Follow these easy steps to complete your transfer to Fulton Bank. Remember, a Fulton banker is available to help if you have questions!

Step 1: Begin using your new Fulton Bank business checking account

Now that you've opened your new account, it's time to get started on the basics! Online banking access is a great place to begin, and business customers are automatically mailed a User ID mailer and PIN upon opening a new account.

To sign up for Online Banking, visit one of our Financial Centers.

Once you open your account in one of our financial center locations, you can quickly access your information through our easy login window. You can also access your account from any page on our website by clicking on the white login button at the top of the page.

Step 2: Suspend use of your old business account

Keep your old account open and appropriately funded until all outstanding checks have cleared and all of your automatic payments and transactions have switched over to your new Fulton Bank account.

Tip: Remember to securely dispose of (shred) your remaining inventory of unused checks and deposit slips and destroy your ATM and debit cards. This will help reduce the risk of accidental use of your old account.

Step 3: Switch your recurring payment activity

Automatic payments (typically ACH transactions) are a convenient way to receive and send funds, and you'll need to redirect them to/from your new Fulton account.

- Incoming deposits (credits) Compile a list of the vendors and merchants who send you automatic payments, and notify them of your new Fulton Bank account information.
- Outgoing payments (debits) Payments such as utility bills, vendor payments or subscription services that are automatically debited from your account will need to be updated to reflect your new account information.

 Complete within 30 days to help minimize interruptions

Tip: Use the worksheet on page 3 to ensure that you haven't forgotten anyone! If you'd like to send written notice, a Request to Switch an Automatic Payment form is on page 7.

Tip: When adding payees within Online Banking, be sure to have the following information ready: biller name, billing address, phone number, and your account number as it appears on your bill.

Step 4: Notify your key professional service providers

Inform your key consultants — accountant, bookkeeper, attorney, insurance agent, etc. — of your switch to Fulton Bank, providing information about the account as appropriate for their needs.

 Complete within 30 days to help minimize interruptions

Tip: Don't forget about other financial services providers. Let your payroll processor, merchant services provider and other financial services partners know that you've switched to Fulton Bank! A Financial Services Partner Notification form is included on page 8.

Step 5: Close your old business account

Once all of your checks have cleared, and all automatic payments and direct deposits are successfully being deducted or credited from your new Fulton Bank account, it's now time to close your old account.

Tip: The Account Closing Request form on page 9 makes it easy to notify your previous bank.

Switching Worksheet

This worksheet is designed for your internal use to track the information you need to close your old account(s) and switch recurring payments and deposits to your new Fulton Bank account.

Important: Make sure to keep this sensitive account information secure and, if printed, consider shredding upon completion. Additionally, exercise caution if transmitting documentation via email as it may not be a secure form of communication.

Switching Forms

The following letter templates have been created to help make the process of switching your checking account easier. Below are descriptions of each letter and how they can help.

Important: Make sure to keep this sensitive account information secure and, if printed, consider shredding upon completion. Additionally, exercise caution if transmitting documentation via email as it may not be a secure form of communication.

Please note:

Fulton Bank cannot guarantee that these forms will be accepted in every instance. Your old bank, and/or your key financial services partners, may require you to make any or all of these requests in person or by some other method than by mail. Also, they may require more or different information than is contained on the letter templates that follow.
